8. Termination of the contract, reimbursement of fees

The contract shall terminate:

- By completion
- By withdrawal/termination by the customer

8.1. Right of withdrawal/termination

The enterprise only performs intermediary activities, so it does not take responsibility in the event of any deficient performance that may arise.

The enterprise draws the attention of the Consumer to the fact that the Consumer is obliged to reimburse the reasonable costs of the enterprise, if the Consumer exercises his/her right of withdrawal after the commencement of the performance.

The Customer may exercise his right of withdrawal and termination in accordance with Government Decree 45/2014 (II. 26) on the detailed rules of contracts between customers and enterprises.

Article 20 (1) In case of off-premises and distance contracts, consumer shall have the right of withdrawal without giving reasons within the time limit set out in paragraph 2. In case of off-premises and distance contracts for services where the contract performance commences after making a declaration pursuant to Articles 13 or 19, consumer shall have the right of cancellation without giving reasons within the time limit set out in paragraph 2.

2. The consumer has the right of withdrawal or termination under paragraph 1

(a) in case of a contract for the sale of goods within fourteen days from the date of receipt of

aa) the goods,

ab) in case of the sale of several goods, if the individual goods are supplied at a different time, the goods delivered last

ac) the last item or piece supplied – in case of goods consisting of several lots or pieces,

ad) if the goods are to be supplied regularly within a specified period, from the date of receipt of the first service by the Consumer or a third party, not being the carrier, indicated by him,

b) in case of a contract for the provision of services within fourteen days from the date of concluding a contract

(3) The provisions of paragraph (2)(a) shall not affect the right of the Consumer to exercise his right of withdrawal as defined in this paragraph during the period between the date of conclusion of the contract and the date of receipt of the goods.

(4) If the conclusion of the contract was made after the offer of the customer, before the cancellation right, the customer has the right to withdraw the offer, by which the offer obligation for contract conclusion is also terminated.

10. The legal consequence of failure to provide information about the right of withdrawal or termination of notice to the consumer

Article 21 (1) If the enterprise has not fulfilled its obligation to provide information as specified in Article 11 (1) (i), the deadline for withdrawal provided for in Article 20 (2) shall be extended by twelve months.

(2) If the enterprise has provided the Consumer with the information referred to in the previous paragraph within twelve months after the commencement date of the original period of reflection, the cooling-off period will expire 30 days after the day on which the consumer has received this information.

11. Exercise of the right of withdrawal by the consumer

Article 22 (1) The consumer can exercise the right guaranteed in Article 20

(a) using the model declaration set out in Annex 2; or

(b) by means of a prominent statement in this regard

(2) The enterprise may also provide the consumer with the right to exercise the right referred to in Article 20 (1) on its website. In this case the business must give immediate confirmation via a durable medium that they have received the statement.

(3) The right specified in Article 20 must be considered validated within the deadline if the consumer sends his/her statement before the expiry of the deadline specified in Article 20 (2) or Article 21.

(4) The consumer must prove that s/he has exercised the right specified in Article 20 in accordance with this Article.

12. Obligations of the enterprise in case of withdrawal or termination of the consumer

Article 23 (1) The enterprise shall immediately, no later than 14 calendar days from the day of receipt of the consumer's statement of withdrawal from the off-premises and distance contract, reimburse the consumer for all payments made by him, including the costs of delivery of the product.

(2) The enterprise will reimburse the payment using the same payment method as the consumer, unless the consumer has expressly agreed to a different reimbursement method which does not involve any costs to the consumer. With the express consent of the consumer the enterprise may use another payment mode for the refund but this must under no circumstances cause the consumer any additional costs.

(3) If the consumer chose a more expensive method of delivery than the cheapest standard delivery, the enterprise will not have to refund the additional cost of the more expensive method.

(4) In case of a contract for selling and purchasing of goods, the enterprise may withhold the amount specified in paragraph (1) until the consumer has returned the goods or has demonstrated beyond doubt that it has been returned; the earlier date of the two shall be taken into account. The right of retention shall not apply to the enterprise if it has undertaken to return the goods by itself.

(5) With regard to the processing of personal data of the consumer, the enterprise complies with its obligations under Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 27 April 2016 on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data, and repealing Directive 95/46/EC.

(6) The enterprise does not use any content that differs from the personal data provided or established by the consumer while using the enterprise's digital content or digital services, unless such content

(a) cannot be used in connection with the enterprise's digital content or digital services;

(b) relates exclusively to the activity of the enterprise during the use of the digital content or digital service provided by the enterprise,

(c) has been combined with other data by the enterprise and it cannot be separated or only with a disproportionate amount of effort, or

(d) it has been produced jointly by the consumer with other persons and other consumers can continue to use it.

7. Except as provided for in (a), (b) or (c) of paragraph 6, the enterprise shall, at the request of the consumer, provide to the consumer any content other than personal data which the consumer has provided or created while using the digital content or digital service provided by the enterprise.

(8) the consumer shall be entitled to retrieve digital content free of charge, without restriction, within a reasonable time, in a commonly used, machine-readable format.

9. In the event of withdrawal from the contract, the enterprise may, without prejudice to paragraph 7, prevent the consumer from continuing to use the digital content and the digital service, in particular by making the digital content and the digital service inaccessible to the consumer or by disabling the user account of the consumer.

13. Obligations of the consumer in case of his/her withdrawal or termination

Article 24 (1) if the consumer withdraws from an off-premises and distance contract, in accordance with Article 22, s/he is obliged to return the goods immediately, but not later than fourteen days from the date of notification of the withdrawal, or transfer them to the enterprise or to the person authorized by the enterprise to take over the goods, except when the enterprise has agreed to return the goods itself. The product is considered to have been sent back in time if the consumer sends the product before the deadline.

(2) the consumer shall bear only the direct cost of returning the goods, unless the enterprise has undertaken to bear that cost.

(3) If the goods have been transported to the consumer at the same time as the conclusion of an off-premises contract, the enterprise shall return the goods at its own expense if, due to the nature of the goods, they cannot be returned by post.

Article 25 the consumer is only liable for depreciation resulting from use which exceeds the necessary use to determine the nature, characteristics and operation of the goods. The consumer is not liable for the value reduction of the product if the enterprise has not provided all required information about the right of withdrawal as specified in Article 11 (1) (i).

Article 25/A If the contract is withdrawn, the consumer no longer uses the digital content or digital service and does not make it available to third parties

Article 26 (1) If, in case of Article 13 or Article 19, the consumer terminates the off-premises and distance contract after commencement of the services, the consumer shall pay to the enterprise a fee proportionate to the service provided until the date of the termination of the contract with the enterprise. The amount to be paid proportionally by the consumer shall be determined on the basis of the total amount of the consideration agreed in the contract plus tax. If the consumer proves that the total amount thus established is too high, the proportionate amount shall be calculated on the basis of the market value of the services rendered until the date of termination of the contract.

(2) In applying this paragraph, the market value determination shall take into account the consideration for identical services provided by entities performing identical activities after the date the contract was concluded.

Article 27 In case of exercising the right of the consumer in accordance with Article 20, the consumer shall not bear the following costs:

(a) full or partial costs of performance of service contract, if

(aa) the enterprise has not complied with its obligation to provide information in accordance with Article 11(1) (i) or (k), or

(b) the consumer has not requested the start of the performance of the service before the expiry of the deadline specified in Article 20 (2);

(b) the total or partial costs of making the digital content available on non-physical data carriers, if

ba) the consumer has not given his explicit and prior consent to the commencement of the performance before the expiry of the deadline specified in Article 20 (2);

bb) at the same time as the consumer has given his consent defined in point ba), he has not acknowledged that he loses his right of withdrawal under Article 20 when giving his consent; or

bc) the enterprise failed to provide the confirmation specified in Article 12 (2) or Article 18.

Article 28 The consumer shall not be charged any additional costs or other obligations in relation to the exercise of his right specified in Article 20 in addition to those specified in Article 23 (3) as well as in Article 24-26.

14. Exceptions to the right of withdrawal and termination by the consumer

Article 29 (1) The consumer shall not exercise his right under Article 20

(a) service contracts after the service have been fully performed but, if the contract places the consumer under an obligation to pay, only if the performance has begun with the consumer's prior express consent and acknowledgement that he will lose his right of withdrawal once the contract has been fully performed by the enterprise;

(b) in respect of goods or services the price or fee, whose price depends on fluctuations in the financial market outside the supplier's control, which may occur during the withdrawal period;

(c) in case of non-prefabricated goods which have been produced on the basis of the consumer's instructions or express request, or in case of goods which clearly designated for the consumer;

(d) relating to perishable goods or goods with short shelf life;

(e) relating to goods in sealed packaging which cannot be returned for health or hygiene reasons after opening;

(f) relating to goods, by nature inseparably mixed with other items after delivery;

(g) relating to alcoholic beverages, the actual value of which depends on fluctuations in the market which cannot be influenced by the enterprise and the price of which has been agreed upon at the time of conclusion of the sales contract, but the contract is only executed after thirty days from the conclusion of the contract;

(h) except as provided in paragraph (2), in case of a business contract in which the enterprise visits the consumer at the express request of the consumer in order to carry out urgent maintenance work or urgent repair work;

(i) relating to the sale of audio or video recordings or copies of computer software in sealed packages, if the consumer has opened the packaging after delivery;

j) relating to newspapers, magazines and periodicals, with the exception of subscription contracts;

k) in case of contracts concluded at a public auction;

l) in case of accommodation contracts other than for residential purpose, transport, car rental services, catering or services related to recreational activities, when the agreement stipulates a specific date or period of execution;

(m) relating to digital content which is not supplied on a tangible medium, if the enterprise started the performance with the explicit and prior consent of the consumer and at the same time with the consumer's consent, acknowledged that it would lose the right under Article 20 after the commencement of the performance, furthermore, the enterprise has sent a confirmation to the consumer in accordance with Article 12 (2) or Article 18.

(2) In the case specified in Article (1)(h), the right 20 § under Article 20 shall cover services or goods offered in addition to the services expressly requested by the consumer and the spare parts used for maintenance or repair.

(3) In cases specified in Article (1)(a-c) and (e), the consumer may exercise his right under Article 20 if the contract is concluded in the context of trading outside the business specified in the Trade Act or in the context of a sale of goods with a presentation of goods.

9. Fulfilment

After receiving the call for proposal, the enterprise shall send the requested offer to the Customer.
